

Dear Diary,

Everything is different now school is canceled for the rest of the year, people who can are working from home and most people are wearing masks. It's scary to think that COVID-19 is happening because it's scary to think about losing someone you love. We have many people to help us like doctors, nurses, grocery store workers, truck drivers, teachers, and so many more. I am lucky to have food, shelter, water, to have my family healthy, my dad have his job, and to be able to do school work. I'm going to help my community by making masks for the people who need them. Everyday life is new now. I do at home school work in the morning, play, help around the house, go on a bike ride and go to bed. Lots of programs meet on ZOOM like class meetings, dance classes, scouts, and more. There have been really cool things on TV. Disney did an at home sing along and then famous singers came on and sang and gave us hope. I really hope things get better soon and people can meet in person again and not online.

Love,
Clara
